Douglas Coleman III, safety de Chicago Bears, é retirado do campo brasil sport apostas uma maca durante o jogo pré-temporada contra os 3 Chefs

The Chicago Bears safety, Douglas Coleman III, was pulled from the field during the pre-season game against the Kansas City Chiefs on August 12, 2024. Coleman was injured at the beginning of the third quarter while attempting to tackle Chiefs wide receiver Cornell Powell. He fell to the ground and became immobile as players from both teams knelt in support and the medical team attended to the player.

Coleman was placed on a stretcher and transported to a medical cart. Bears players and coaches gathered around the cart to show their support.

The fans at Arrowhead Stadium gave Coleman a ovation as he was being taken off the field.

The Bears defeated the Chiefs 34-21 and finished the pre-season with a record of 4-0. After the game, head coach Matt Eberflus told reporters that Coleman was being moved to the hospital for further treatment.
